Claims 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 19 “EN ISO 1133” and in claims 19 and 20 “DIN 53429” are vague and indefinite because it is unclear how these terms further limit the claims.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 12-15 and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brodt et al. 6,146,704. Brodt et al. disclose (see col. 2 line 31 through col. 6 line 24) disclose the aqueous copolymer dispersion or wax substantially as claimed. The claims differ from Brodt et al. by reciting that the copolymer is formed from specific weight percents of comonomers. It appears that the specific weight percents recited in the instant claims are included in the monomer weight percent ranges disclosed in Brodt et al. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify the copolymer dispersion or wax of Brodt et al. by utilizing the recited weight percents, to aid in utilizing the dispersion or wax to protect metal surfaces. The specific weight percents, melt flow rate, acid number, and density utilized, would have been an obvious matter of process optimization to one skilled in the art, depending on the specific surface protected and results desired, absent a sufficient showing of unexpected results.

Applicant's election of Group II, claims 12-15 and 18-20 in the reply filed on 3/11/08 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)). Claims 1-11, 16, and 17 stand withdrawn from further consideration. The restriction requirement is made final.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
